

BANNER ADVERTISING

Once you realize the value of advertising in our hobby publications, we're sure that you'll want to expand your advertising even further by placing banner ads on our websites!

Banner advertising provides a great opportunity for you to promote the online portion of your business. As the market changes, it is important that you get a head start on your competition in reaching this market. Linn's Stamp News is the leader in the stamp collecting market, and collectors turn to both our weekly publication and our website for the information they need to fully enjoy the hobby. By placing your banner on our website, your message can be seen by all these collectors.

LINNS.COM BANNER AD RATES

We've redesigned our Linns.com website. The new site continues to be the primary source for educational and reference information for collectors in the stamp market. The information that thousands of viewers a day have grown to know and love will continue to be available on Linns.com.

The new site will have a fresh new look, and will be actively promoting the digital edition of our publications. Our goal, as we move into the future, is to create a complete community, both through print and online for stamp collectors and stamp dealers to meet.
